Valerie made the best chocolate chip cookies, whenever we had a function at DataQuick Jennie would bring her cookies, if it was Christmas the tray would be filled with her love. Please know I am thinking of all of you at this difficult time. The many precious memories of your Mom & Grandmother will get you through. She was so blessed to have her caring, loving family by her side. She is smiling down on you & watching over all of you. God Bless. Love, Lynne

Jennie this is so very hard for you and the family because you all had so much fun together. Let all those beautiful memories comfort you. You showed your mom how much she was loved by taking such wonderful care of her. Big hugs to you all.

Sending my condolences to Lexi and the family! I am so sorry for your loss, but through the pain just know grandma is your angel now. She has not left you all, she has only left the shell that could no longer hold her beautiful soul. She is doing great...don't cry in sadness but rejoice that she is free from suffering. Please know in spirit she is and will always be with you and from experience there is much comfort in knowing that. She will even connect with some of you just to let you know she is okay, just give it time but keep your eyes, mind, and heart open to it. God bless you all. I send my prayers up for your healing and comfort. Always, Aisha (Lexi's co-worker/friend)
