Dear Becky, Your funeral was absolutely lovely. People who love you, they showed up. Many who loved you are gone, and you are with them now. And you the happiest you have ever been. That's all that matters... you are with Mom, and you are both thrilled to be together.

TOGETHER...FOREVER.We will be with you soon, sis. We love and miss you so, Marie.

I will miss Becky's sunny smiles and cheerful hellos whenever I saw her out walking with one of her tote bags on some adventure. I loved that she always asked my dog was even though I'm not sure she was certain that she was a fan of dogs. She asked out of kindness because that is who she was. The world has lost a beautiful soul, one that I feel blessed to have known. Unity

A more recent memory I like is when the power went out in Becky's part of town she came to stay with us and it turned into a mini vacation for everyone, watching movies, eating places...she was just a joy to have around...another one is when we saw the Fleetwood Mac concert years ago which was a big one as it turned out. Usually though life is the small things like phone calls beginning with "It's me, Becky" in that delightful tone...she was just a really good person...
